

THIRD SUNDAY OF EASTER

FROM: DOCAT

The Social Teaching of the Catholic Church

God's Master Plan
Love

18. How does a change of society come about?

The Good News of the Bible, God's self-revelation, changes us in every respect. We acquire a new way of looking at the world and our society. All change starts in the human heart: first, the person himself must change interiorly and think and live according to God's command; then, he can work outwardly, too. Conversion of heart, for which we must strive ever anew, is the real beginning of a better world. Only through that conversion do we recognize how institutions and system must be changed and improved.

19. Why is man's selfishness the core of every human sin?

As long as man looks at himself egotistically, he wastes away. We are made in such a way that we are not enough for ourselves. We need human community and a liberating orientation toward the meaning and source of our being, ultimately toward God. We must go out of ourselves, toward another person and ultimately toward God. Being turned in on oneself is synonymous with sinning. Someone who does not (or cannot) love is living in self-imposed alienation. This is true also for whole societies. Where production and consumption and prolonging life come first, there will be a lack of solidarity and real humanity.
